

---

Stress Factors of Health Care Professionals on Transformation in Hospital Management – An Overview

K. Asokan & Prof. Dr. G. Brindha

Dr. M.G.R. Educational and Research Institute University, Chennai

Abstract

Transformation is a process of planning to move from its current position of the organisation to the desired position of the organisation. In this review study the Management of Hospitals and the Stress factors of the Health care Professionals are analysed. Irrespective of type of hospital whether it is small Nursing Home, Private Limited Hospitals or Corporate Hospitals, the Management has to depend on all types of Health care professionals of the hospital to achieve the goals. The personnel employed in the hospitals have also see the development of the individual and also the development of the hospitals and to achieve the desired goals where they are employed.

Keywords - Hospital, Stress, Health care Professionals.