

Mobile Apps on Digital Transformation to Business

B. Mahalakshmi

MCA- student, Department of Computer Application, Madras University

B. Swetha

B.E,-student, Department of CSE, Anna University

Abstract:

The World is teeming with breakthrough technologies and not moving with trends can create setbacks for your business. Following the trends can lead your company to the pinnacle of success without being failed. In this modern era of latest mind-boggling technology, it will be an auspicious step for you and your business to move with technology and get most out of it. One of them is mobile app development to enhance your business and occupy the place of catalyst to fuel the next phase of your business. You may have the breakthrough quality product at the most reasonable price but it is worthless if it will not be able to get to customers.

Keywords: mobile apps, digital transformation, business, social platform