Abstract:

Background:

Lean is a set of operating philosophies and methods that help create maximum value for patients by reducing waste and waits. In simple terms “Quality service with fewer resource” (creating value without waste).

Aim:

To fundamentally change organisation thinking and value, this ultimately leads to transformation of organization behaviour and culture over time. This approach originally derived for Toyota [Toyota production System]. The majority of the studies also reported of studies also reported on successful lean interventions, where as little has been documented about the failed attempts or barriers to its implementation in healthcare.
